GIRLS CAUGHT IN ROOMING HOUSE

Lena Eddy, Marie Price, William E. Sampson and Sam Wiggleson, four young people arrested yesterday morning in the Belmont rooming house and charged with lewd and lascivious conduct, pleaded guilty in police court this morning. Judge Reeder took the case under advisement.

Lena Eddy was in court Friday morning when the quarrel with her brother, John Faulkner, was settled by Judge Reeder.

The Price girl has been arrested before on a similar charge.

Upon being arrested, the Price girl was not in the least embarrassed. She remarked to the police that life is short and she believed in having a good time. The other girl, however, was despondent and declared that if she could get carbolic acid she would drink it.

Free concert at the Hermitage every afternoon and Sunday evening.

WEALTH SUBJECT OF A SERMON

In the First Methodist church, yesterday, Rev. F. G. Kassawer delivered an interesting sermon on "Wealth." He said in part:

"What is wealth? It is stored energy, the concentrate of our toil, the coining of the sweat of our brows. In short it is the transmutation of ourselves into potential energy which can be again transferred into the same or different forms of work."

"Money is not filthy lucre. Something which so represents us and can so reproduce our energy cannot be despised. It is potential of marvelous things."

"So money is held in due esteem. But it should not be unduly exalted. We in this age and country have gone to the extreme of making 'coin' our deity. The temple of our worship is too often not the sanctuary, but the market place; our altar is not in the place of prayer, but behind the counter; our emblem of devotion not the cross, but the dollar sign. As Ruskin says, 'The sin of the world is still the sin of Judas. We do not so much disbelieve our Jesus, we sell Him.'"

SIX EMPLOYEES HAVE LARGER SALARIES

Salaries of six employees of the Ogden postoffice have been increased, the change in salaries to date from tomorrow, July 1. The notice to that effect was received by Assistant Postmaster Rufus Garner today, following recommendations sent to Washington several weeks ago.

Frank B. Clayton, as superintendent of mails, will receive in the future $1400 per year in place of $1300. Claude E. Stewart will receive $900 instead of $800. The salary of Harvey W. Eager has been increased from $800 to $1000, and that of Myron B. Niles from $1000 to $1100. Ben Tyree has been increased from $600 to $800. Enoch Hjort will receive $720 instead of the $650 as in the past.

A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE

$5.95 SALE OF LADIES Ready-to-Wear

Tomorrow (July 1st) we place on sale an assortment of ladies' ready-to-wear garments, which is, without doubt, one of the most important sales of the year.

We have an accumulation of seasonable garments which were here last season. Some of them, garments which were worth up to $35. Rather than carry these garments until another season, we have decided to sell them out at one low price for choice of the entire lot. Sale begins with the opening of the store tomorrow morning.

Ladies' Dresses

There are not two dresses alike in the lot. Some are party dresses of fine chiffon, some of different kinds of silk—some for party wear—some are street dresses—many are dresses which will be worn for street wear. Most of them are very slightly soiled. A small expense or dry cleaning will put any of them into first-class condition. The best dresses are worth to $35. Tomorrow you may have choice of the lot for $5.95

Ladies' Coats

Most of the coats to be offered at this very low price are white—some are of wool serge—some of Bedford cord, and some are of Ratine. If you were to buy the materials and pay for the making of any of these coats the cost would be three to four times the price at which they are to be sold. Tomorrow morning there will be one whole rack of these coats in a variety of fabrics. Coats worth to $30 to be sold at $5.95

Ladies' Suits

Yesterday (Saturday) a lady came to this floor looking for a white skirt—she expected to pay at least $7.50 for the skirt alone. As we did not have the size wanted, we allowed her to select one of these suits—in which the skirts are as good as this year's styles—and all she paid was $5.95. Tomorrow there will be in this sale a number of ladies' white suits. The materials are Bedford cords and white wool serge. The linings and findings are of the very best—the suits are worth to $30. Tomorrow we expect to sell every one of them at $5.95

PRESIDENT AT CAPITOL

Conferences With Senators Over Appointments—Discusses the Mulhall Charges Briefly With Chairman Overman of the Lobby Investigating Committee

Washington, June 30.—President Wilson made a sudden trip to the capitol just after 2 o'clock this afternoon. With Secretary Tumulty he whirled away from the White House office carrying a large sheaf of papers. The purpose of his visit was not then known.

When the president arrived at the capitol he immediately began conferences with senators over appointments. He informed Senators Smith and Ashurst of Arizona of his intention to name Thomas Weston as registrar, and John K. Birdno as receiver of the land office at Phoenix, Ariz. Both men had been endorsed by Senator Smith.

With Senator Overman, chairman of the lobby investigating committee, the president discussed the Mulhall charges briefly. The president indicated keen interest of the work of the committee which is to be resumed July 1.

President Wilson discussing the Mulhall charges today with Washington correspondents said he believed the lobby on tariff legislation had ceased to "embarrass anybody but itself." When the president made his first declaration that "a numerous and insidious lobby" was operating in Washington, he had no idea that such charges as made by Mulhall would be brought out but he added he was in favor of investigating all charges and had no doubt the senate committee would have a free hand.

The president told his callers the accusations in the Mulhall statement had been called to his attention just before their publication. It was learned today that Senator Overman's attention had been also called to a portion of the charges.

Chairman Overman called his committee together for a short executive conference early today and at its conclusion announced that a full investigation of the Mulhall charges had been agreed on.

It was decided that no meeting of the committee will be held until July 28. Charges by Chairman Lovett of the Union Pacific board that certain men in New York had been impersonating Congressmen and in which the names of Edward Lauterbach and David Lamar were brought in, will be taken up and the Mulhall charges will follow.

Taft Will Have Denial.
New Haven, Conn., June 30.—Former President William H. Taft today declined to discuss the lobby charges made by Martin Mulhall except to send word through his secretary that he regarded the statement as one of those muckraking attacks that men occupying public offices.

Pope Will Investigate.
Hartford, Conn., June 30.—Colonel George N. Pope, president of the National Association of Manufacturers told him that he had had considerable experience in organizing working men for political purpose and Watson said he would be glad to have the benefit of his experience along that line but it was not true that either Mulhall or the manufacturers association financed him personally or the Watson campaign in 1908.

"A Wicked Diabolical Lie."
Rushville, Ind., June 30.—A "wicked diabolical lie" was the way former Congressman James E. Watson characterized the statement by Martin Mulhall that Watson drank six cocktails in Mulhall's room in a hotel in Indianapolis during the campaign of 1908.

Mr. Watson reiterated his statement of last night that he had been employed only by the national association of manufacturers to further the movement for the tariff commission at the extra session of congress in 1909 and that his connection with the association ceased with the adjournment of the special session.

In speaking of Mulhall's trip to Indiana during Watson's campaign for governor, Mr. Watson said Mulhall told him that he had had considerable experience in organizing working men for political purpose and Watson said he would be glad to have the benefit of his experience along that line but it was not true that either Mulhall or the manufacturers association financed him personally or the Watson campaign in 1908.

DESTROY AN OLD CASTLE

Glasgow, Scotland, June 30.—Balclunnin castle at Balfron, Stirling-shire, one of the largest in Scotland, was burned today, only the bare walls remaining.

The fire seemed to have been incendiary as the private fire apparatus had been rendered useless. The usual rumors laying the blame for the outrage on the militant suffragettes spread rapidly but no evidence was found to connect them with it.

The castle cost $500,000 and was built by Sir Archibald Ernest Orr Ewing. It contained 100 rooms. It has been unoccupied for some time.

Destroy Railway Station.
Leuchars, Scotland, June 30.—The important railway junction here connecting Edinburgh with Dundee and Aberdeen and within a few miles of St. Andrews golf links, was burned today. The authorities believe the fire was started by militant suffragettes.

Fine Male Militants.
London, June 30.—Four men arrested yesterday while participating in the militant suffragette attack on the official residences in Downing street on Premier Asquith and Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lloyd-George, were brought up at the police court today and fined $10 each, with the alternative of fourteen days imprisonment. A fifth man who had taken a minor part in the disturbances was fined $5 or a week in prison.

At our request four of Ogden's esteemed citizens have consented to write a symposium of opinions on the vital subject, "What the 4th of July means to me:

First—By Dr. A. S. Condon.

Second—By Dr. E. G. Gowans.

Third—By Prof. John M. Mills

Fourth—By a Woman.

You ask me to tell in a hundred words "What the Fourth of July Means to Me." Well, it means a good deal to me but not more than it does to you, and you, and you! But a hundred words are not enough, nor are any words pregnant enough to tell what the Fourth of July is to any citizen of these United States. As well might you ask me to tell in a hundred words what my mother is to me, what the constellations are to me when a cloudless night discloses to my eyes the countless myriads of God's lamps sprinkling the heavens and I try to comprehend when first they were lighted and when finally they will be extinguished.

When I think of the Fourth of July, a picture rises before me like that old vision of the New Jerusalem. I see the meeting in Independence Hall in Philadelphia, and I see the little barefoot boy stationed at the foot of the belfry to give notice to his gray-haired sire when the Declaration of Independence should be passed by the convention within. And out of that picture comes a voice, crying in a childish treble, it has passed, father, it has passed, and we dare be free. And I see the old man grasping the bell-ropes with his thin bony hands and I hear the mighty bell peal out in rhythmic cadence a hymn of joy that made tyrants tremble and thrones crumble on their foundation stones.

Looking again at the picture I see blood stains on the frozen ground at Valley Forge and the blood is from the shoeless feet of determined men who were offering their lives for me a hundred years and more beyond their finite gaze. It is a moving picture that I see and passing rapidly before my gaze I see the struggling handful of untrained soldiers though starving, ragged, and nipped by the biting frosts of winter, facing on an hundred battlefields the pride of haughty England's vainglorious cohorts, and I see the bowed heads in desolate homes where mothers and wives are weeping for those who will return no more, but looking again on the picture I see that proud enemy swept from this land of freedom never to return; and I see bustling villages where the smoke of campfires once filled the sky, and I see these villages grow into cities of boundless enterprise.

But greatest of all, the last and the best, I see the Blue and the Gray on the shot-torn field of Gettysburg renewing their allegiance to one another and to their country while the Angel of Peace and Prosperity in transports of joy is leaning over the arcades of heaven to bless the scene with the benedictions of smiles and tears. As I write with my eyes fastened on the picture I hear the voice of Adams, and Hancock, and Jefferson and all the others exclaiming in one mighty chorus, You have made good, your country is the greatest and best ever known since history was written and, personally, I am having the time of my life enjoying it, and that is what the Fourth of July is to me.

A. S. CONDON.
